INTENSE HEAT CONTINUES AS CITY SUFFERS

Mercury at 94 at Noon; Severe Electrical Storm Hits City

TWO DEAD IN OHIO

Hot Weather to Continue in Ohio, Forecast

The torrid heat wave continued today with the government thermometer registering 94 degrees at noon and still climbing. It seemed certain that Wednesday's mark of 95 would be eclipsed.

A severe electrical storm riding on the wings of a 50-mile gale struck the city shortly before midnight Wednesday but it failed to greatly alleviate the distressing heat.

A check-up in Ohio revealed that the heat wave took at least two lives.

William J. Fleet, 57, veteran of the Spanish-American and World wars, succumbed to the heat while cutting oats on his farm near Chardon. His body was discovered by a neighbor's boy.

Alex Toth, 55, Castalia farmer, collapsed while loading hay.

Weather forecasters predicted continued "scorching" weather.

Third Storm Forces Scurrying Wednesday

Residents scurried around in their homes barefooted at midnight Wednesday closing windows and taking in porch furniture when the city experienced the third electrical storm this week. About one-half inch of rain fell in less than a half hour.

Wind uprooted two large maple trees, one in front of the home of Mrs. Minnie Deibel, N. Pickaway-st., and the other in front of the residence of Mrs. Daniel Smith, S. Scioto-st. Broken branches were scattered over the streets in various sections of the city. The debris was removed by the service department Thursday.

Farmers reported some damage to corn near town. No serious damage was caused to electrical equipment, employees of the light and telephone companies reported. Although the mercury was not as high Wednesday as reported on some other days this summer the weather was more oppressive because of high humidity. Dr. H. R. Clarke, local weatherman, said Wednesday's high was 95 degrees and the lowest temperature during the night was 70 degrees. The river stage was four feet, almost normal.

RELIEF CLIENTS ISSUED WARNING

RIVER TOWN HIT BY FLOOD

Nearly Five Inches of Rain Recorded in Marietta Area; Crops Hurt.

MARIETTA, Aug. 1—Residents of southeastern Ohio and part of West Virginia today counted additional thousands of dollars damage from the second flood destruction within a week.

Rainfall, totaling 4.6 inches at the government station here, swelled streams during the night, ruined many farm crops and swept away many small buildings in low areas.

The deluge, starting shortly before midnight, in little more than three hours sent rivers and creeks roaring out of their banks, inundated wheat and corn fields and blocked many rural roads.

Swelling channels already flooded by water washed down from central eastern Ohio counties, visited by a damaging flood Sunday, the rainstorm was termed the worst in ten years by residents of this community.

Lines of telephone and electric power companies were broken down in many sections of the county, poles were broken off by debris and the creeks were covered with floating sheaves of wheat, hay bales and wreckage of buildings.

NEW ANGLE IN LOBBY INQUIRY

Advertising Man Tells Committee He Urges "Sanity" Drive Against FDR.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 1—The senate lobby committee today traced to at least one of its sources the "whispering campaign" questioning the sanity of President Roosevelt.

A spare, semi-bald, Orange, N. J., advertising man, E. P. Cramer, admitted, first that he suggested the campaign in a letter to C. E. Grosbeck, chairman of the board of the Electric Bond and Share corporation, March 28, and, second, that such a campaign came into being.

Cramer had offices in the Edison industries office in Orange.

Served at 1:10 a. m. Committee investigators served a subpoena on Cramer in his hotel room at Plainfield, N. J., at 1:10 this morning after he had refused to come at a simple telegraphic request.

The witness admitted he was "ashamed" of the idea now. He said, under severe grilling, that it was an "unsound idea."

The campaign suggested by Cramer grew to such proportions recently that dozens of Washington newspapers offices received queries from their editors throughout the nation asking whether there was any truth in the rumors.

"Did you have any basis for such a whispering campaign?" asked the committee chairman, Senator Black (D) Alabama.

"None whatever,"

"You knew it was false?"

"I don't know."

"Had any doctor made such a statement—that President Roosevelt was insane?"

"No, certainly not."

"It was intended to be purely false, was it not?"

"It was intended to be analogous to the campaign against President Hoover."

CLAIM KILLER DIED, SUICIDE

Zenge, Named as Mutilator-Murderer of Bride Groom, Hunted in Lake.

CHICAGO, Aug. 1—Mandeville W. Zenge, 26-year-old Missouri farm boy sought as a suspect in the mutilation murder of Dr. Walter J. Bauer, leaped to his death off Navy pier, it became almost certain today.

The report of Zenge's suicide came as the coroner was opening an inquest into Dr. Bauer's death. It was given police by J. Giannini, a cab driver, who told of taking a man of Zenge's description to Navy pier. There his passenger left the cab tossing him a dollar.

The driver, after waiting for some time, investigated and found the man's hat and coat, together with a suicide note addressed to Zenge's father and signed "Mandeville."

There were no witnesses to the plunge, and Zenge might have contrived a ruse to throw off pursuit, police said, but they believed there was a strong possibility that Zenge, disappointed suitor of Dr. Bauer's bride of three weeks, had drowned himself.

Coast guardsmen started to drag the waters for the body.

Zenge stated in the note: "It seems like I have failed on everything I've ever tried to do. However, this is one thing in which I am going to succeed."

"Lottie told me several times lately that I was crazy, but I am not. I know what I am doing. I'm sorry I can't pay you, but you have the car, which I hope you will enjoy."

"However, I believe you could use the money better. Tell Lloyd and Wilcox goodbye for me."

GIRL'S SLAYER FACES DEATH; DENY INSANITY

Thompson, "Sex - Mad" Killer, Refused Mercy by Illinois Jurors

NEED TWO BALLOTS

Youth Saved from Mob Bent on Violence

PEORIA, Ill., Aug. 1. The shadow of the electric chair silenced the gay harmonica of Gerald Thompson, 26-year-old "sex-mad" slayer, today.

The sullenly imperturbable machinist was a broken creature today, his tear-redened eyes a strange contrast in his pasty-face as he muttered over and over again:

"My God. My God."

Jury Out Four Hours

Thompson was given the death penalty by a circuit court jury late last night, after four hours of deliberation.

The youth, who confessed luring pretty Mildred Hallmark, 19-year-old honor graduate of an exclusive Peoria girl's school, to a lonely graveyard, beating her, attacking her, tossing her young body into a ravine and leaving her to die, gazed quizzically, a trace of a smile at the corners of his sullen sensuous mouth, as the jury filed in, handed the verdict to a clerk.

The lad was dry-eyed, his expression unchanged, as the clerk read the verdict:

"We, the jury, find the defendant guilty of murder, as charged, and fix the penalty at death."

Weeps Bitterly

But in the chambers of Judge Joseph E. Daily, he broke down, wept bitterly.

His breath came in heavy jerking sobs as he was led back to his cell, manacled to two burly, heavily armed deputies.

Thompson, framed by Defense Attorney Ren Thurman "a monomaniac, morally insane," was spirited from the courthouse through a side entrance to escape a crowd of more than 4,000 milling about outside the building, many of them muttering ugly words.

POUR CEMENT AT PURINA CO. SOON

With excavation work completed, pouring of concrete on the new storage elevator of the Ralston-Purina Co., is expected to get under way Monday.

The excavation is approximately 80 feet square and twelve feet deep. Work has been hampered to some extent this week due to the heavy rains. Water had to be pumped from the cavity daily before work could continue.

The new elevator, which will have a storage capacity of 150,000 bushels of grain, will require about 3,000 barrels of concrete for construction. Ray Rowland, manager of the Circleville branch, announced Thursday. The elevator will be 72 feet square at the base and tower 150 feet.

Concrete will be poured in sliding type forms and the pouring will be continuous from the time the work is started until completed. The Jones-Hettlesatter Construction Co., Kansas City, Mo., is the contractor. Cost of the new building equipped with machinery will be between $75,000 and $100,000.

Denying he was either a practical or theoretical nudist, Lawrence W. Cramer, new appointee as governor of the Virgin Islands, is pictured on the stand in Washington testifying before the senate territories committee.

The question was raised by Senator Jesse H. Metcalf of Rhode Island, who found in a book, "Among the Nudists", a foreword thanking Cramer and his wife for their assistance and moral encouragement.

Cramer testified authors of the book had borrowed the Cramer apartment in New York in which to write their book and had used the Cramers' names in the foreword without asking permission.

VOTE CHANGES LIKELY AFTER LOBBY INQUIRY

Rayburn to Force Conferencees to Take Definite Action, or Fire Them

'DEATH' CLAUSE UP

Presence of Cohen Hinders Committee

WASHINGTON, Aug. 1—A new test vote on the holding company "death sentence" provision of the administration's utility bill was to be sought in the house today.

Chairman Rayburn (D) of Texas, of the house interstate commerce committee, announced that he would offer a motion to instruct house conferencees to accept the "death sentence" provision of the senate bill.

"My intention is to move to instruct the conferencees and if this fails to move to discharge them," explained Rayburn.

See Vote Changes

Despite two previous defeats for the administration on the "death sentence" issue in the house, backers of the drastic proposal were hopeful that the lobby investigations may have changed enough votes to enable them to win in a new test.

All efforts to reach agreement between senate and house conferencees on the utility bill have thus far failed because of the insistence of Senator Wheeler, (D) of Montana, that Benjamin Cohen, PWA attorney, be present in the conference. A majority of the house conferencees have refused to proceed with discussions on the grounds that Cohen is a representative of the administration and has no place in a legislative conference.

On two occasions, Rep. George Huddleston, (D) of Alabama, leader of the house fight against the "death sentence", has attempted to force a vote on the Cohen issue in the house. He was blocked both times on points of order raised by Rayburn.

Motion in Order

The holding company bill has been deadlocked in conference for 20 days. Under house rules a motion to discharge the conference committee can be made upon the expiration of that time.

COUNTY THRESHING AGAIN IS RESUMED

Threshing was resumed Thursday morning in the north and northwest sections of the county. Farmers in some sections report their wheat is virtually ruined and they plan to feed the grain instead of attempting to market it because of the low quality it would test.

Wheat is said to be a valuable feed in the production of pork. In some fields the heavy rains have caused the grain to mold and sprout and it is being fed in the shed.

The price offered on the local market today for the grain was between 83 and 85 cents.

TEACHER RESIGNS

Miss Corinne Timmons of Delaware, teacher of English and Latin in the Williamsport high school, has resigned. Her successor has not been named.

Jury Out Four Hours

Thompson was given the death penalty by a circuit court jury late last night, after four hours of deliberation.

The youth, who confessed luring pretty Mildred Hallmark, 19-year-old honor graduate of an exclusive Peoria girl's school, to a lonely graveyard, beating her, attacking her, tossing her young body into a ravine and leaving her to die, gazed quizzically, a trace of a smile at the corners of his sullen sensuous mouth, as the jury filed in, handed the verdict to a clerk.

The lad was dry-eyed, his expression unchanged, as the clerk read the verdict: "We, the jury, find the defendant guilty of murder, as charged, and fix the penalty at death."

Weeps Bitterly

But in the chambers of Judge Joseph E. Daily, he broke down, wept bitterly.

His breath came in heavy jerking sobs as he was led back to his cell, manacled to two burly, heavily armed deputies.

Thompson, termed by Defense Attorney Ren Thurman "a monomaniac, morally insane," was spirited from the courthouse through a side entrance to escape a crowd of more than 4,000 milling about outside the building, many of them muttering ugly

PCUR CEMENT AT PURINA CO. SOON

Sliding Type Forms To Be Used; Pouring To Be Continuous Until Finished.

With excavation work completed, pouring of concrete on the new storage elevator of the Ralston-Purina Co., is expected to get under way Monday.

The excavation is approximately 80 feet square and twelve feet deep. Work has been hampered to some extent this week due to the heavy rains. Water had to be pumped from the cavity daily before work could continue.

The new elevator, which will have a storage capacity of 150,000 bushels of grain, will require about 3,000 barrels of concrete for construction, Ray Rowland, manager of the Circleville branch, announced Thursday. The elevator will be 72 feet square at the base and tower 150 feet.

Concrete will be poured in sliding type forms and the pouring will be continuous from the time the work is started until completed. The Jones-Hettlesatter Construction Co., Kansas City, Mo., is the contractor. Cost of the new building equipped with machinery will be between $75,000 and $100,000.

OUTSIDE BEER SIGNS MUST BE REMOVED

Pickaway-co vendors of beer or liquors were ordered today by the Ohio Liquor Control board to remove all outside signs advertising any particular brands from their premises at once. Failure to comply with this regulation adopted late Wednesday by the Board will mean revocation of permits.

Last Saturday The Herald carried a story informing vendors of beer and spirituous liquors that this order would be made Wednesday, July 31.

Governor No Nudist

Lawrence W. Cramer

Denying he was either a practical or theoretical nudist, Lawrence W. Cramer, new appointee as governor of the Cargin islands, is pictured on the stand in Washington testifying before the senate territories committee.

The question was raised by Senator Jesse H. Metcalf of Rhode Island, who found in a book, "Among the Nudists," a foreword thanking Cramer and his wife for their assistance and moral encouragement. Cramer testified authors of the book had borrowed the Cramer apartment in New York in which to write their book and had used the Cramers' names in the foreword without asking permission. Cramer, considered an outstanding administrator, has been lieutenant governor.

WOMAN IS READY TO DIE FOR CRIME

CHICAGO, July 31 Evelyn Smith, who in her heyday did
"strip" dances in a West Side Chicago honky-tonk, is ready for the electric chair, she said today.

Indictments will be sought today against the 46-year-old former burlesque queen who yesterday smilingly, unemotionally confessed the gruesome torso murder of Ervin J. Lang, and Mrs.
Blanche Dunkel, mother-in-law of the victim, who has confessed she promised to pay Evelyn $500 for the crime.

Mad jealousy precipitated by Lang's approaching marriage to Miss Josephine McKinley, 21, and hatred because of her unrequited love were her motives, Mrs. Dunkel has confessed.

Assistant State's Attorney
Charles S. Dougherty said death in the electric chair will be sought for both women.

Informed today the state will seek to atone for Lang's murder by putting her in the electric chair, Mrs. Smith was unperturbed, replied.

"I'm ready for the chair. It's better than putting up with all that has happened.

"I might be better off dead than alive, anyway.

"And it wouldn't break my heart if Blanche makes that trip with me."

Dougherty will also seek an indictment against Harry Jung, Evelyn's fugitive Chinese husband.

I am a peace maker and I am convinced that divorce if often the easiest way to make peace between married people. Mrs. Alice F. Hutchins, New York attorney.

"The great damage wrought by the Sunday floods in the Hocking valley could have been diminished, and possibly averted entirely, if flood control programs contemplated by the conservation board had been in effect," Warner ventured.

Provided Protection
He explained that construction of dams and reservoirs in low areas throughout the region would not only have provided catch basins for the excess water, saving the districts that were inundated, but also would help to relieve the drought-stricken farming areas during dry periods.

The nature of the region, Warner pointed out, requires that the dams be built in the side valleys. He displayed maps showing that engineers for the board have already partially completed plans for flood control in that region.

Lack of funds for field work has delayed the board in preparing preliminary plans for federal aid applications, officials of the body explained.

Gov. Martin L. Davey's slash of $60,000 from the biennial budget left the board with no money for employing geologists and engineers.

Small appropriations for wages are being used to keep Baker at work completing as many as possible of the projects.

"If we can avert floods such as that which caused such great damage in the Hocking valley Sunday, these programs will have more than paid for themselves in a single season," declared Warner.

"The permanent value to the state is unestimable."

Rev. Boyd Rife, of Jackson, is the president, and with his official associates have inaugurated a program of expansion that will make this one of the leading camps of the country. Many new cottages and improvements in the housing and sanitary conditions, greeted the campers this year.

Evangelist Oliver E. Williams, D. D. Ph. D., of Pittsburgh is speaking every day at 2:30, and night at 7:30. Rev. Dale Dutton, preacher, lecturer, evangelist, is speaking every morning at 10:30 and at other periods.

Prof. J. Roy MacMurray and Mrs. Angie M. Williams, both of Pittsburgh, have charge of the music. They are assisted by Rev. Bill Kuhn of Columbus, a large chorus choir, and the Chillicothe Church band.

Saturday night will be "music night" when Prof. J. Roy MacMurray will give one of his famous "musical sermons" so popular on KDKA, and other broadcasting stations.

One of the popular services is the 6:45 young people's hour, directed by Mrs. Williams, and led by different ones of the young people.

Dr. Oliver E. Williams is speaking on the general theme of "The Higher Levels in Christian Experience," in the afternoon services, and on "The Christianity of Christ," at the evening services.

Dr. Dutton is speaking on "The Goal of Higher Christian Living," these men are both outstanding in their special fields and are drawing immense crowds.

Next Sunday will close the camp for this year, with services at 6:45, 9:30, 10:30, 1:15, 2:50, 6:30 and at 7:30. Dr. Williams will deliver the closing message.

WOMAN IS READY TO DIE FOR CRIME

CHICAGO, July 31—Evelyn Smith, who in her heyday did "strip" dances in a West Side Chicago honky-tonk, is ready for the electric chair, she said today.

Indictments will be sought today against the 46-year-old former burlesque queen who yesterday smilingly, unemotionally confessed the gruesome torso murder of Ervin J. Lang, and Mrs. Blanche Dunkel, mother-in-law of the victim, who has confessed she promised to pay Evelyn $500 for the crime.

Mad jealousy precipitated by Lang's approaching marriage to Miss Josephine McKinley, 21, and hatred because of her unrequited love were her motives, Mrs. Dunkel has confessed.

Assistant State's Attorney Charles S. Dougherty said death in the electric chair will be sought for both women.

Informed today the state will seek to atone for Lang's murder by putting her in the electric chair, Mrs. Smith was unperturbed, replied:

"I'm ready for the chair. It's better than putting up with all that has happened.

"I might be better off dead than alive, anyway.

"And it wouldn't break my heart if Blanche makes that trip with me."

Dougherty will also seek an indictment against Harry Jung, Evelyn's fugitive Chinese husband.

I am a peace maker and I am convinced that divorce is often the easiest way to make peace between married people.—Mrs. Alice F. Hutchins, New York attorney.

One housewife, after witnessing the modern methods and labor saving devices employed by Miss Woods, was heard to remark that she was born thirty years too soon.

The well-dressed woman knows that this season she must not neglect her neckwear—that fashion has decreed it a most important part of her wardrobe. And, always on the lookout for the smartly new, she offers you these. They will add to any dress—transform it, in fact, so that even your best friends won't recognize it. The bands can be crocheted (it's just a double crochet worked across) or made of binding or braid. They're just sewn down on paper and joined with bars, fagoting, and spiders.

These are simple to make and are described in detail in the directions. The bib collar, so fashionable for summer and fall, brings all the decoration right to the front where it can be best seen.

In pattern 5414 you will find a transfer pattern and directions for making the collars shown; exact illustrations for making them; material requirements.

To obtain this pattern send 10 cents in stamps or coin (coin preferred) to The Herald Household Arts Dept., 124 W. Main-st., Circleville, O.

A last opportunity to get a free copy of her favorite recipes, together with the blanching and processing Time Table for hot or cold pack canning, will be at the Friday afternoon session, which begins at 1:30 p. m.

Miss Woods, Home Economist from the Kerr Glass Manufacturing Corporation, reports a copy of the Government Bulletin has been forwarded to her from the company offices, predicting that this will be a year of the greatest fruit crops ever known in this part of the United States, and home canning will be revived on a large scale,—in fact larger than for many years.

One housewife, after witnessing the modern methods and labor saving devices employed by Miss Woods, was heard to remark that she was born thirty years too soon.

Other housewives, too, may profit from this demonstration and have more time and energy after the day's canning by attending this School of Modern Home Canning.

The well-dressed woman knows that this season she must not neglect her neckwear—that fashion has decreed it a most important part of her wardrobe. And, always on the lookout for the smartly new, she offers you these. They will add to any dress—transform it, in fact, so that even your best friends won't recognize it. The bands can be crocheted (it's just a double crocheted worked across) or made of binding or braid. They're just sewn down on paper and joined with bars, fagoting, and spiders.

These are simple to make and are described in detail in the directions. The bib collar, so fashionable for summer and fall, brings all the decoration right to the front where it can be best seen.

In pattern 5414 you will find a transfer pattern and directions for making the collars shown; exact illustrations for making them; material requirements.

To obtain this pattern send 10 cents in stamps or coin (coin preferred) to The Herald Household Arts Dept., 124 W. Main-st., Circleville, O.

THE DEVIL'S MANSION

There was something in the center.

READ THIS FIRST: Blair Rodman is riding in a truck with Janet Lord from the town of Boiesvain in western Canada to the weird old home of an elderly Miss Boiesvain who lives in a huge house with only a woman servant and a fierce dog. They have just met. He is going to retrieve his car that became mired in the ditch near the Boiesvain house during a terrible thunderstorm the night before. Shortly afterward the queer old woman refused him shelter and her dog chased him from the house. McClure, the truck driver, tells Blair there is much mystery about the Boiesvain house. The girl is on her way to Miss Boiesvain's to become her companion after answering an ad in a Vancouver paper following her father's death. She shows Blair an attractive letter from Miss Boiesvain and then bids him goodbye as they reach the house. When McClure tells him he brought another young girl to the Boiesvain house two months previously who never returned, Blair decides to delay his trip west a few days. Meanwhile Janet meets Miss Boiesvain who surprises her as much as does her bizarre house.

(NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY)

CHAPTER 3 "THAT IS NITA," Miss Boiesvain announced to Janet, abruptly, inclining her head toward the maid. "She cannot talk. However, she can understand everything you say. She has been with me for a long time."

Janet nodded, not quite sure of herself. She settled back more comfortably in the straight backed chair and looked at the fire. Flames were dancing, yellow and long from two fat logs.

"How do you think you're going to like it here?"

"Why... why, pretty well, I think I'm tired out from office work and this will be a change." Janet glanced again at Miss Boiesvain. She thought she saw something move on the woman's neck, but could not be sure. Something yellow like the woman's skin, something small. She swallowed hard as she turned away. A chamberlain! Her hands trembled slightly as she reached into her purse for her handkerchief.

Of course, Miss Boiesvain had said she was "peculiar" and set in her ways. But how could she wear this creature, this reptile around her neck? Perhaps, thought, after a while she would get used to this strange employer of her, this employer who had seemed so generous and sincere in her letter. It might take some time, but there would be hours when she would be alone with her... hours when she would have to see this scaly thing nestling in Miss Boiesvain's neck.

"I told you I was rather queer," Miss Boiesvain spoke again, as if reading the girl's thoughts. "So you must be prepared for little oddities which the ordinary person has not. This chamberlain I have had for years. I am greatly attached to it." She touched it half tenderly with her fingers. "I would not give it up for anything. After you learn my ways, I think you will be comfortable. I shall need you only two or three hours a day, from ten in the morning until noon or so. The rest of the day is yours to do as you please. You can walk, read, sew, anything. I shall not ask you to account for your spare time. You will not have to help around the house. Nita does all that."

Janet wondered how this speechless maid could do everything there was to be done about such a large house. "Cook the meals, keep the place clean, wait on her mistress. When she looked toward her, Nita had disappeared and the two bags were gone.

"Perhaps I'd better go to my room and bathe. I am..."

"We will have tea first, Miss Lord. Then you may go up. I have no breakfast. However, don't let that influence you, because you may have your dinner whenever you choose. My dinner hour is at one o'clock. Tea is at twilight."

The quiet of the big room was beginning to soothe Janet's nerves. There was not a sound anywhere, except the tick-tick of the banjo clock hanging on the wall back of Miss Boiesvain's chair.

Half of the west wall was covered with books, which Janet eyed with pleasure. Nothing she enjoyed more than reading. She would ask Miss Boiesvain if she might take a book upstairs tonight with her, so she could read herself to sleep.

From the book cases, she glanced around the room again and started up when she saw Miss Boiesvain's candles, silently, holding a torch in her hand. She had not heard the maid enter. Indeed, she could not hear her now as she went from her room to another. The big woman finished with the candles which glowed invitingly all over the room now... sending small flames like sheeted sheets up on the high walls. As silently as she had come, Nita pushed open a swinging door and went out. She came back almost immediately bearing a large tray with the tea things on it.

Cool, Janet thought, sipping tea by the fire and helping herself to small cakes from the table beside her. Cool, only she wished for a more comfortable chair in which she could lean and rest her back. The tea was excellent, light colored, almost like water, yet with a pungent, fragrant flavor. The cakes, too, were good.

On the table was a fine lace cloth, so fine it seemed woven of cobwebs. The napkin Janet had in her lap was of sheer linen, shiny as satin, and edged with the same lace of which the cloth was fashioned.

On her saucer lay a teaspoon of sterling silver, of an old ornate pattern. The teapot and sugar and creamer were also of heavy silver, and the light of the fire turned the silver to gold where the beams caught it.

Perhaps it would not be so bad, living here, with these lovely things. She would have to get used to Miss Boiesvain and the strange maid whose face never changed expression, whose lips always held the same straight line.

Janet thought of the times when she and her father had had tea... in those years which now seemed ages ago. Tea in her father's sick-room.

She held out her cup for more and watched Miss Boiesvain's heavy blunt fingers as she poured it. On the hand was one ring, a ring such as Janet took it silently and examined it. Now the glass was not so clear. There was something in the center. She peered again, and recognized her own features.

"Is it a mirror?" she asked, interested.

"No, it is a crystal and if you will look again, you will see other things that pertain to your own life and future. Look carefully."

As Janet gazed, her own face faded slowly, and another countenance took shape. She could not tell to whom it belonged at first, because it was vague and very shadowy. The features slowly took shape, and a man's face was smiling at her, Blair Rodman's!

agent on Capitol Hill. There he did such a good job that he has been rewarded with the position of Under-secretary of Interior.

Ben Cohen Spotlight Most spotlighted Congressional agent of the New Deal recently is Ben Cohen, whose presence at the conferees' meeting on the Holding Corporation Bill caused three House members to walk out.

Cohen is one of the most active figures in the New Deal. Working with his close friend, Tom Corcoran, he has been behind more important legislation than any other member of the Administration.

He began with the Securities Act. This was drafted during four days and four nights while he was locked up in a room in the Carlton Hotel shortly after Roosevelt was inaugurated. In order to ensure that he would not be tempted to interrupt his endeavors, Cohen sent his one suit to the cleaners with instructions not to bring it back before four days.

Co-author of the Act was Jim Landis, now a member of the Securities Exchange Commission. At the very end, the two authors disagreed. Landis packed his bag and walked out, leaving Cohen to finish the bill by himself.

It now stands as the law of the United States, almost as it came from Cohen's pen.

Officially Cohen is in the legal division of PWA. Actually he is the most important legislative draftsman of the New Deal. He works his stenographers in two shifts; can't understand why they don't like to remain at the office until 2 A. M. as he does.

Last winter when Roosevelt began getting into hot water as a result of Old Guard sabotage and Marvin McIntyre bungling, he drafted West as his lobbying

Contract Bridge

CAN SOUTH GO GAME?

THERE ARE many hands requiring careful consideration to determine the best method of offensive play. Some hands like the following offer declarer little better than a guess at which possible play will prove most efficient.

♠ A J 9 6
♥ 6 5 4
♦ A 10 4
♣ A 8 6
K Q J
10 8
Q 7 5
K 7 2
N. W.

Q 10 8 4 2
A 9
K 9 3
Q 5 4

Bidding went: West 1-Heart, second hand; North, doubled; South, 2-Spades, to show cards worth better than a mere response to the information; North, 4-Spades, which passed without a doubt.

The opening lead was the K of hearts. South's Ace won the trick. To have reasonable opening bid strength West required the two black K's. He also might hold the Q-J of diamonds or the J with the K of clubs. South had to consider each possibility. While considering possibilities he led the Q of spades. The K and Ace were played, then the J of spades picked up the last opening trump.

Preparatory to end play the hands had to be stripped. A heart was led from dummy. Declarer's 9 forced the play of West's 10. South ruffed the return lead of the Q of hearts. South led an extra round of trumps, to discover the original number of hearts held by West. East let go the 2 of diamonds and West discarded the 8 of hearts. Evidently West still held a heart and six minor suit cards. Minor suit details were foggy still. South decided that his best chance for game was to give the defenders two club tricks and force them to lead diamonds.

The Ace of clubs was led, followed by the 8, which East covered with the 9. South played the Q and lost to West's K, as expected. West could not lead another heart without allowing one hand to ruff and the other to discard a losing diamond. Not wanting to lead diamonds, West led his last club which East's 10 took. East could not lead his long club without having one hand ruff and the other discard a losing diamond. East had to lead a diamond.

As long as the Q of diamonds was held by West and East held the J the suit could not be led by the defenders without giving the declarer the last three tricks and game. The only thing which could have defeated the contract, the way South played the hand, was to have East lead diamonds and find the Q-J in West's hand.

THEATRES

AT THE GRAND

Thursday, Friday and Saturday are family nights at the Grand theatre. The featured picture Thursday and Friday will be Mr. and Mrs. Martin Johnson's "Baboon" while on Saturday Buck Jones will be shown in "Outlawed Guns."

AT THE CIRCLE

Through the fog and the mystery of night, Ronald Colman stumbles into the living image of himself and so starts off the stirring story of "The Masquerader" at the Circle Theatre.

The thrills and the heart-throbs of the famous stage melodrama are brilliantly revised by Colman in a smooth and polished production by Samuel Goldwyn, Howard Estabrook and Moss Hart adapted the screen play from John Hunter Booth's dramatization of the Catherine Cecil Thurston novel.

AT THE CLIFTONA

"Eight Bells," Columbia Pictures' gripping nautical drama, will begin a 2-day run at the Cliftona Theatre, on Friday. Ann Southern is starred and Ralph Bellamy and John Buckler have featured roles.

Dealing with the primitive loves and hates inspired by the presence of a beautiful girl aboard a freighter bound for Shanghai, "Eight Bells" is said to present some of the finest sea photography ever presented in films. In addition it provides Ann Southern with a starring role of great dramatic importance.

The photography of the storm sequences, when towering waves sweep the vessel from stem to stern, killing members of the crew,

MOSIER SEEN CANDIDATE TO SUCCEED SELF

Gains Support of Both Parties
By Ability as Leader of
Ohio Senate.

COLUMBUS, July 29.—Political railbirds in the capital see Lieut.
Gov. Harold C. Mosier (D) Cleveland, as a candidate to succeed himself next year.

As president of the state senate, Mosier earned the commendation of Republicans and Democrats alike for impartiality and efficiency.

The job appeals to him because as a lawyer he spends much time in the capital, in the interest of clients, and it is profitable for him to have the additional income paid the lieutenant governor.

If he is re-elected his salary will be $3,000 a year, or $1,000 more than at present. In raising their own salaries at the regular session members of the legislature also boosted that of the senate president.

Mosier was a senator himself in the 90th General Assembly and introduced and sponsored the Ohio liquor control act setting up the monopoly system. He is the son-in-law of Supreme Court Justice Thomas A. Jones, a Republican.

Handley for Judge.

If his influence with the voters of Cincinnati is as great, as he thinks it is, Sen. William E. Handley (R) will not return to the state senate again.

He has been endorsed by the Republican judicial nominating committee of Hamilton-co as one of four candidates for judges of the Cincinnati municipal court.

Handley is one of the Senate's famous "two Bills," the other being Sen. W. H. Hermer (D) Monroeville, on the majority side of the aisle and chairman of the finance committee.

Bitter foe of the retail sales tax, Handley added new laurels at the last session by championing a bill to legalize dog racing in Ohio and another to require all Ohio motorists to have driver's licenses.

His dog race bill, successful in the Senate, was turned down by the House, and the governor vetoed the driver's license act.
One of the Senate's most entertaining orators, Handley, will be missed by Senate observers.

Jackson in Wrong Pew

They are telling a good story in "statelike circles" on Cincinnati's Sen. Overton Jackson, who is serving his first term.

Senator Jackson, a Republican, went to Jackson, Miss., for a visit recently and while there the dignities of the local Exchange Club prevailed upon the Ohioan to address their luncheon group.

Jackson makes few speeches on the floor of the Senate, but, imbued with the spirit of Southern hospitality, he rose to the occasion.
Being a politician, he quite naturally talked about politics—Republican politics.

His peroration sounded a prophecy of a rousing Republican victory at the polls in 1936. To his amazement and discomfort, when he finished there was no more applause than at a funeral.

Later Senator Jackson discovered the reason. He had been the only Republican in the house.

Nubbins

It sounded like "Honest Vic" all right, the explanation trickling back from Washington as to why he voted "no" on the Agricultural

Thompson was alone as the verdict was read, deputies being

Took Two Ballots

The jury took but two ballots, it was learned. On the first nine voted for the death penalty, three for life imprisonment.

On the second the jury voted unanimously for the chair.

In his closing argument State's Attorney E. V. Champion made a ringing plea for the death penalty.
Thurman, appointed by the court to defend Thompson, told the ju-

55 LIVES LOST IN SOVIET SUBMARINE

MOSCOW, Aug. 1.—Rammed by a maneuvering warship, the old Czarsk submarine D-3 plunged instantly to the bottom of the Gulf of Finland with a loss of 55 lives. Russia's greatest peacetime naval disaster the defense commissariat announced today.

Seven of the victims were students from the Soviet naval academy, while Commander Alexander Calothov also went down with his vessel.

Efforts will be made to raise the submarine, which is in shallow water. A state funeral will be held for the victims, and each of their families is to receive 10,000 roubles.

The tragedy was a direct outgrowth of Russia's anxiety over the new German navy. Intricate maneuvers to protect Russia from any attack via the Baltic were in progress when a fast-moving ship rammed a big hole in the D-3, which was just under the surface.

The D-3 was built in 1917. She sank July 25, but no announcement was made before today.

And he will.

Ex-State Sen. Daniel J. Gunsett

'OHIOAN' NOT VOICE OF STATE PAPERS

COLUMBUS, Aug. 1.—The Democratic State Press association, headed by R. Kenneth Kerr, deputy U. S. marshal in this district and publisher of several small Ohio newspapers, today announced publicly it has no connection with The Ohioan, new organ of the Democratic state executive committee.

Coming on the heels of the first issue of the paper which was devoted largely to espousing the cause of Gov. Martin L. Davey, the public statement was interpreted by many capital observers as an indication the press association wants no "credit" for the utterances voiced in The Ohioan.

"The Democratic State Press association, with a membership approaching 100 representatives of Democratic and independent Democratic papers in Ohio, is not engaged directly nor indirectly in publishing any newspaper for its own account or for others," the statement declared.

"The association maintains its organization as a unit of mutual cooperation, service and information to serve the rightfully proper interests of the party, nationally and in the state.

Kerr, president of the association, has for years been a close associate of Charles Sawyer, Cincinnati, former lieutenant governor, mentioned as a possible candidate against Davey for re-nomination next year, observers pointed out.

MOSIER SEEN CANDIDATE TO SUCCEED SELF

Gains Support of Both Parties
By Ability as Leader of
Ohio Senate.

COLUMBUS, July 29.—Political railroads in the capital see Lieut. Gov. Harold G. Mosier (D) Cleveland, as a candidate to succeed himself next year.

As president of the senate, Mosier earned the commendation of Republicans and Democrats alike for impartiality and efficiency.

The job appeals to him because as a lawyer he spends much time in the capital in the interest of clients, and it is profitable for him to have the additional income paid the lieutenant governor.

If he is re-elected his salary will be $3,000 a year, or $1,000 more than at present. In raising their own salaries at the regular session members of the legislature also boosted that of the senate president.

Mosier was a senator himself in the 90th General Assembly and introduced and sponsored the Ohio liquor control act setting up the monopoly system. He is the son-in-law of Supreme Court Judge Thomas A. Jones, a Republican.

Handley for Judge

If his influence with the voters of Cincinnati is as great as he thinks it is, Sen. William E. Handley (R) will not return to the state senate again.

He has been endorsed by the Republican judicial nominating committee of Hamilton-co as one of four candidates for judges of the Cincinnati municipal court.

Handley is one of the Senate's famous "two Bills," the other being Sen. W. H. Horner (D) Monroeville, on the majority side of the aisle and chairman of the finance committee.

Bitter foe of the retail sales tax, Handley added new laurels at the last session by championing a bill to legalize dog racing in Ohio and another to require all Ohio motorists to have driver's licenses.

His dog race bill, successful in the Senate, was turned down by the House, and the governor vetoed the driver's license act. One of the Senate's most entertaining orators, Handley, will be missed by Senate observers.

Jackson in Wrong Pew

They are telling a good story in staffhouse circles on Cincinnati's Sen. Overton Jackson, who is serving his first term.

Senator Jackson, a Republican, went to Jackson, Miss., for a visit recently and while there the dignitaries of the local Exchange Club prevailed upon the Ohioan to address their luncheon group.

Jackson makes few speeches on the floor of the Senate, but, imbued with the spirit of Southern hospitality, he rose to the occasion. Being a politician, he quite naturally talked about politics—Republican politics.

His peroration sounded a prophecy of a rousing Republican victory at the polls in 1936. To his amazement and discomfort, when he finished there was no more applause than at a funeral.

Later Senator Jackson discovered the reason. He had been the only Republican in the house.

Nubbins

It sounded like "Honest Vic" all right, the explanation trickling back from Washington as to why he voted "no" on the Agricultural Thompson was alone as the verdict was read, deputies being unable to locate Attorney Thurman.

Took Two Ballots

The jury took but two ballots, it was learned. On the first nine voted for the death penalty, three for life imprisonment. On the second the jury voted unanimously for the chair.

In his closing argument State's Attorney E. V. Champion made a ringing plea for the death penalty. Thurman, appointed by the court to defend Thompson, told the jurors his client was criminally insane, sexually mad.

'OHIOAN' NOT VOICE OF STATE PAPERS

COLUMBUS, Aug. 1.—The Democratic State Press association, headed by R. Kenneth Kerr, deputy U. S. marshal in this district and publisher of several small Ohio newspapers, today announced publicly it has no connection with The Ohioan, new organ of the Democratic state executive committee.

Coming on the heels of the first issue of the paper which was devoted largely to espousing the cause of Gov. Martin L. Davey, the public statement was interpreted by many capital observers as an indication the press association wants no "credit" for the utterances voiced in The Ohioan.

"The Democratic State Press association, with a membership approaching 100 representatives of Democratic and independent Democratic papers in Ohio, is not engaged directly nor indirectly in publishing any newspaper for its own account or for others," the statement declared.

"The association maintains its organization as a unit of mutual cooperation, service and information to serve the rightfully proper interests of the party, nationally and in the state."

Kerr, president of the association, has for years been a close associate of Charles Sawyer, Cincinnati, former lieutenant governor, mentioned as a possible candidate against Davey for re-nomination next year, observers pointed out.

About This And That

BY THE SECOND GUESSER

Zwick to Lakewood

C. W. "Bill" Zwick, coach at Grandview high school, one of the Central Buckeye league's outstanding schools, has resigned to become coach at Lakewood, near Cleveland. The new position is a real promotion.

Oberlin Graduate

Zwick has been at Grandview five or six years and has won many championships. Prior to taking the Columbus suburban job Zwick was an assistant coach at New Philadelphia taking that job soon after he graduated from Oberlin college.

Ballot for Schmidt

We've been urged to urge you to vote for Francis Schmidt for coach of the all-star collegiate team to play in Chicago late in August. You can cast a ballot for Schmidt by writing to the ALL-STAR Editor of the Chicago Tribune.

Your letter or card should be put into the mail as soon as possible. Schmidt is believed in the running for the job and a little local support might help.

Hrobon in Form

That the employment of Emil Hrobon as professional at the Pickaway Country club was a master stroke was again proved Wednesday when he led the Country club team to a stirring 34-32 victory over London's good team. Hrobon did just as a good professional is supposed to do, he played the course in par figures, 36-36, 72.

Phillips is Hurt

Doc Phillips, Pickaway Country club president, was planning today to use his X-ray machine on his own left hand to learn just what he did to it when he struck with an iron Wednesday. Phillips was at the top of a swing when the left hand slipped off the club. Following through with his right he struck the left hand. Now, we don't know and neither does he, but he does have a painful hand.

Donie is Mentioned

Donie Bush, former Pittsburgh and Cincinnati manager, has been added to the list of aspirants for Walter Johnson's job at Cleveland. Donie would make a good man.

BARTON RECALLED

COLUMBUS, Aug. 1—The Columbus Red Birds today recalled Lawrence Barton, first baseman, from Council Bluffs, Ia. Barton became the property of the Birds in May in a deal with Rochester.

STAR GOLFERS IN NOVEL TOURNEY

TOLEDO, Aug. 1—Sixteen of the nation's finest professional golfers lined up here today for a novel and new kind of golf tournament, a best ball tourney in which no player will be eliminated. The opening round will be played this afternoon at the Inverness country club and two rounds will be played tomorrow, Saturday and Sunday.

Scoring in the invitational tourney will be done at the end of each 18-hole round. The players will shoot as two-man teams. At the end of each round, the team will be credited with a plus or minus score to correspond with holes won or lost, and the pair with the greatest plus total at the finish of seven rounds will be judged champions. The winners will receive $1,000.

It is believed this arrangement will result in an exceptional exhibition of golf for no player should be afraid to cut loose or try a dazzling shot inasmuch as his partner can play safe if he misses.

Henry Picard and Johnny Revolta, who are teamed, found the course in par 71's yesterday. Both predicted that a 62 will be the best score registered in the tournament.

Other teams in the tourney are Tommy Armour and Bobby Cruickshank; Leo Diegel and Jimmy Thompson; Denny Shute and Victor Ghezzi; Harry Cooper and Horton Smith; Al Espinosa and Billy Burke; Walter Hagen and Al Watrous; and Ky Lardon and Sam Parks.

CHOWS AND OILS IN MERRY MIX-UP

The Purina Chows and Cities Service Oils engaged in an embroglio Wednesday and no one yet knows who won.

The score was 13-12 in favor of the Chows with the Cities Service crew at bat in the last half of the eighth frame. Charlie Hill was umpiring and one man was out with the bases unoccupied. It was too dark to play ball but the game went on until Hill was hit in the eye by a foul ball. He immediately called the game.

Under rules when an inning is not completed the score reverts to the last complete inning which found the Oils leading 12 to 10.

It was also pointed out that the Chows could have claimed a forfeit since the Oils were not ready to play until 20 minutes after game time. The forfeit was not claimed at that time so it cannot stand.

It has been suggested that the game be finished from the score that prevailed when Hill was hit. It's up to Frank Lynch, league president.

Tonight the Eshelman Feeds and Circleville Oils mix.

REDS AGAIN WHIP CARDS UNDER LIGHT

CINCINNATI, Aug. 1—The Cincinnati Reds climbed to fifth place in the National league today by reversing St. Louis, 4 to 3, in 10 innings before 30,000 fans, the largest crowd of the season at Crosley Field last night.

Paul Dean, of "daffiness" fame, was the Reds' victim, being hit hard for 13 safe blows by the Ohioans. Tony Freitas went the route for Cincinnati allowing the Cards 10 hits.

O'NEIL ON INSIDE IN INDIAN BERTH

CLEVELAND, Aug. 1—Many notable baseball names were bandied around Cleveland today as possible successors to Walter Johnson, former Washington "Big Train," who is expected to relinquish his job of managing the Cleveland Indians at Chicago this weekend. But one name appeared to head the downtown coaches' list.

That was Steve O'Neil, one of the most popular baseball heroes in Cleveland baseball history. O'Neil came from the coal-fields of Pennsylvania to become Cleveland's greatest catcher and member of the city's only world series championship team in 1920.

Reports, circulated here, that Owen (Donie) Bush, manager of the American association Minneapolis Millers, would succeed Johnson if a change in management of the Indians is made, were blasted when word was received that the Minneapolis club would not release Bush.

O'Neil had six years' experience in managing the American association Toledo team and earned a reputation of being able to develop young players. At present he is coach of the Indians.

FUCHS TO RETURN TO LAW PRACTICE

BOSTON, Aug. 1—Judge Emil F. Fuchs, portly and genial president for 14 years of the Boston Braves baseball club, today surrenders control of his holdings to return to the practice of law.

Only a slim hope remained that a prospective purchaser for the club, now mired in the cellar of the National league, might offer a sufficient price for his approximately 8,000 shares to enable him to pay off an indebtedness to Charles Francis Adams, vice president of the Braves.

"The offers I have received so far are inconceivable," said Judge Fuchs. "I could sell on a moment's notice. But if I did so I would move out owing Mr. Adams."

"My merely resigning I owe no one anything. I can turn over my personal stock to Mr. Adams and leave no debts behind me."

ANGLERS BEMOAN RAINY WEATHER

Pickaway-co followers of Isaak Walton can now band together and sing blues songs for many weeks to come.

Heavy rains and high water have put a clamp on fishing in all streams in this vicinity and stirred up ponds until they have the appearance of mud puddles.

Most fishermen believe it will be a month before streams clear enough for angling. Some have been high and clouded during the entire summer season. A shortage in live bait in this section has been another problem for summer fishing. Many believe seiners from Columbus bait stores have reaped the bait harvest in county streams this year.

This summer has been considered a good one for restocking purposes as few fishermen have reported good catches and many have done no fishing.

SCHOOL BOARD IN DIFFICULTY
Clarksburg Educators Must Take Definite Stand on Married Teachers.

CLARKSBURG, O., Aug. 1—Clarksburg school board is in a quandary as the result of a resolution passed some time ago not to employ married teachers.

All single teachers were asked to sign an agreement to hold themselves as separated from service if they did get married. Mrs. Frank Taylor and Mrs. Una Ater were discharged as a result of the action.

Miss Gladys Satchell, a single teacher, did not sign the agreement but she married James McCollister after the resolution had been adopted. The board also received a petition asking the reinstatement of Mrs. Taylor.

Superintendent Harry Rees believes Mrs. McCollister can legally hold her position under the teachers contract she has signed. The school board has tabled the Taylor petition and action on Mrs. McCollister's status until further investigation.

Marian Martin Pattern

Of course you could "go to work" on these extra pounds with setting up exercises and such, but it's so much easier to let Marian Martin lines work for you! There's that raglan shoulder line that works such wonders in slimming the bust, especially when flattering softness distinguishes the bodice. Then there's a long line sweeping from waistline clear down to the hem and carrying the eye right away from bulging hips. And don't miss the lengthening effect of an unbroken front line that restricts its belt to half portions. Choose a flattering monotone in triple sheer or novel crepe. Complete. Diagrammed Marian Martin Sew Chart included.

Pattern 9493 may be ordered only in sizes 16, 18, 20, 22, 24, 26, 28, 30, 32 and 34. Size requires 3 1/2 yards 39 inch fabric.
Send FIFTEEN CENTS in coins or stamps (coins preferred) for EACH MARIAN MARTIN pattern. Be sure to write plainly your NAME, ADDRESS, the STYLE NUMBER and SIZE of each pattern. THE MARIAN MARTIN SEW-ING BOOK will lead you to your way to warm weather. From its forty pages view the parade of clothes for every occasion for every member of the family. Designs all beautifully illustrated, patterns all easy to make. Styles for the small girl, the Dashing Deb, the Blushing Bride and Mature Matron plus some useful hints and some delightful reading. ## KILLER NAMED AS EX-SUITOR

Man Wanted for Mutilation of Dr. Bauer Named as Manville Zenge.

ANN ARBOR, Mich., Aug. 1.—The mysterious "Mr. Jones" who registered at the Jennings house here two days before the kidnapping and murder of Dr. Walter J. Bauer, summer school student at the University of Michigan, today was definitely identified by two hotel employees as Manville Zenge, former suitor of Dr. Bauer's wife. Dr. Bauer lived at the Jennings house.

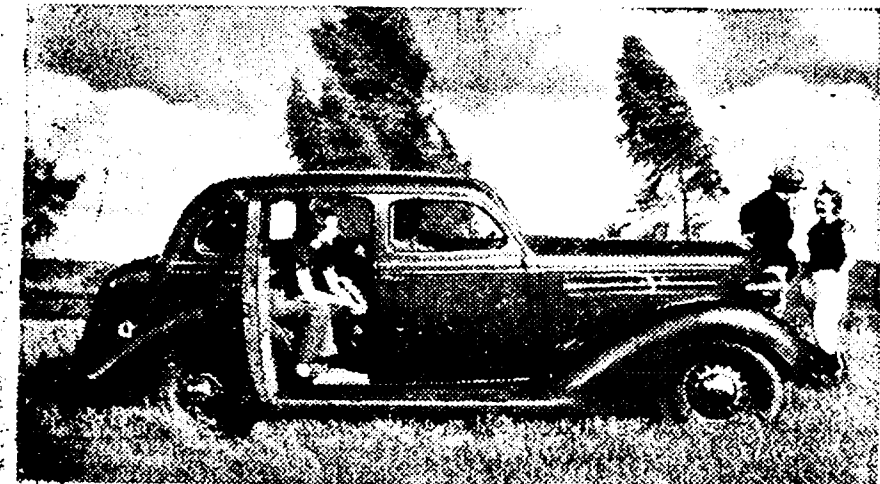

Zenge is the object of a police hunt throughout the middle west as the man said to have been named by Dr. Bauer in a deathbed statement.

In long distance telephone conversations, from Kirksville, Mo., Bauer's bride of two weeks identified the missing Zenge as a former sweetheart of hers whom she had rejected to marry Bauer.

Identification of the man who signed the hotel register as "Mr. Jones", who disappeared the same night as Bauer, was made today by Norman Jedeke, hotel manager and his assistant, Charles Reaume, according to state police.

Zenge, 26 years old, was described as "tall, dour and brooding." He is a carpenter. When last seen he wore a gray suit of fashionable cut.

Sophie Tucker's offer to buy the Boston Braves has been turned down. The club is funny enough without her.

OBSERVE HIGHWAY WARNING SIGNS TO AVOID ACCIDENTS

Ohio motorists are asked by Highway Director John Jaster, Jr., to pay strict heed to highway warning markers in an effort to promote safer driving on Ohio highways.

Calling attention to the 4,224 accidents reported on state highways outside municipalities during the first six months of this year, Jaster emphasizes that obedience to the highway warning signs would mean fewer accidents.

It is pointed out that all points of hazard on the state routes are designated by standard warning signs which are distinctive and readily understood.

Red reflector signals have also been erected for night signals at points of more than ordinary hazards, such as sharp curves, etc.

Moreover, center lines are painted on the roadway around curves, over hills, at approaches to railroad crossings and at other hazardous locations where traffic should keep to the right.

Motorists are afforded protection in the highest degree by the thorough and efficient marking of Ohio highways.

Obey these signs and markings, Jaster urges. Then safer driving will result—and if driving is safer there will follow a reduction in the number of accidents.

Stunning compacts and matching cigar cases come in golden-toned tortoise shell, and make marvelous and most appreciated gifts to any titian haired lady you may know.
